PANEL · BRAZIL'S 2026 ELECTION

Who the foreign network around Flávio Bolsonaro is

Since 2018, the Bolsonaro family has cultivated allies in the United States, Israel, Europe, the United Arab Emirates and the Latin American right. The figures below count only people and organisations from outside Brazil and only ties that appear in documents.

431 foreign actors

816 documented ties

32 countries besides Brazil

12 heads of state and government

Who they are

12 heads of state and government (current and former)
Donald Trump, Javier Milei, Benjamin Netanyahu, Viktor Orbán

35 government officials
JD Vance, Marco Rubio, Sheikh Tahnoon bin Zayed Al Nahyan, Darren Beattie

25 legislators
Chris Smith, Mike Lee, Matteo Salvini, María Elvira Salazar

55 business people and investors
Guo Wengui (Miles Guo), Chris Buskirk, Donald Trump Jr., Peter Thiel

20 strategists and consultants
Steve Bannon, Jason Miller, Fernando Cerimedo, Brad Parscale

10 media figures
Javier Negre, Tucker Carlson, Michael Shellenberger, Matt Gaetz

Where they come from

United States	279
Israel	47
Argentina	12
other countries	93

The most connected foreigners

1. Donald Trump	36 ties
2. CPAC	24 ties
3. Steve Bannon	18 ties
4. 1789 Capital	18 ties
5. Gettr	17 ties
6. Guo Wengui (Miles Guo)	16 ties
7. Javier Milei	16 ties
8. Polymarket	15 ties
9. Chris Buskirk	13 ties
10. Donald Trump Jr.	13 ties

Which organisations

86 companies · 62 organisations · 26 government bodies · 30 funds and PACs · 18 media and platforms · 8 parties

Sources: official Brazilian and US documents, company registries, court records and reporting, cited in the notes of the report "The Foreign Network in Brazil's 2026 Election". Page 1 is computed from the network map, documented ties only. October 2026.

What was promised to Washington and not to voters

On July 1, 2026, Flávio submitted an 86-page document to the US Trade Representative (USTR). The platform he registered with Brazil's electoral court has 76 pages. The same subjects appear like this:

	To the US government USTR filing, July 1, 2026	To Brazilian voters platform filed with the electoral court
Pix	A law to stop Pix, Brazil's free instant payment system, from connecting to “non-Western” systems (p. 11)	Pix appears only as an achievement of the Bolsonaro government
Cards	Relief from the “regulatory and tax burden” on card networks; at the hearing, “cards issued by US brands”	The problem is the voter in debt on “revolving card credit” (p. 32)
Mercosur	To “free itself from Mercosur bindings”, following “the path of Javier Milei's Argentina” (p. 12)	The word Mercosur never appears
China	A continent “closed to non-Western strategic penetration” (p. 19)	To negotiate “with everyone”, “from China to the European Union” (p. 62)
Election	Says the request “rests on the statute, not on any election” (p. 16), yet argues from the election on pp. 4, 17, 18 and 19 and in a whole annex	At the hearing: the US “could wait or could suspend” until the election

Page 84 still carries a drafting instruction: check the product codes “before filing”. Someone prepared the text for the senator to sign. Who, is not known.

The pressure, month by month

- Jul 30, 2025 50% tariff and financial sanctions on Justice Alexandre de Moraes
- Nov 20, 2025 Beef, coffee and fruit exempted because of US prices
- Dec 12, 2025 Sanctions on Moraes lifted
- Feb 2026 Darren Beattie becomes State Department adviser for Brazil
- Mar 28, 2026 At CPAC in Texas, Flávio asks for “diplomatic pressure” on the election
- May 26, 2026 Trump receives Flávio in the Oval Office; rare earths on the agenda
- Jul 15, 2026 25% tariff on about 18% of Brazil's exports to the US
- Aug 2026 US revokes the visa of Ambassador Maria Luiza Viotti
- Sep 30, 2026 $1 million to “counter lawfare” in Brazil, four days before the first round
- Oct 2, 2026 US suspends consular services; Federal Police finds no threat
- Oct 4, 2026 First round: Flávio 47.03%, Lula 45.16%

Sources: official Brazilian and US documents, company registries, court records and reporting, cited in the notes of the report “The Foreign Network in Brazil's 2026 Election”. Page 1 is computed from the network map, documented ties only. October 2026.

PANEL · BRAZIL'S 2026 ELECTION

Follow the money

Five paths of money and influence surround the candidacy. Each box is a person, company or agency; each arrow, a transfer or relationship recorded in a document.

Guo Wengui's fraud and Gettr

Guo Wengui
convicted of fraud in New York; 30 years in prison

→

Shell companies
Hamilton, ACA Capital, HCHK

→

Gettr
$35.66m sought by the trustee; signed judgment of $59,000

→

Eduardo's institute
sponsorship of CPAC Brasil and Brasil Profundo, 2021-2022

> Paulo Figueiredo's consultancy for Gettr in Brazil, $140,000, was paid by a Guo shell.

From Abu Dhabi to the campaign supplier

Sheikh Tahnoon
chairs the IHC holding company

→

Aleria
IHC affiliate run by Eric Leandri

→

Lerco
partners: Leandri, Renzo Gracie, Ludgero Sousa

→

Elytron
ex-executive Sousa; campaign paid R$ 600,000, PL R$ 131,900

> The same Lerco brokered Abu Dhabi investors' entry into the attempt to buy Banco Master.

From Banco Master to Texas

Daniel Vorcaro
owner of the liquidated Banco Master

→

Entre Investimentos
admitted in a plea deal to making the transfers

→

Havengate
Dallas fund; about $12m, per Federal Police

→

Dark Horse film
Eduardo is executive producer

> Police are investigating whether the fund paid for Eduardo's stay in the US. It is the investigation's hypothesis; he denies it.

Public money on the stages

Indigo Foundation (PSL) paid for CPAC Brasil 2019 with the public party fund

→

Álvaro Valle Institute (PL)
R$ 250,000 for CPAC 2024

→

Party fund (PL)
R$ 600,000 to Sérgio Sant'Ana's law firm in 2024

> Sant'Ana co-founded with Eduardo the institute that organises CPAC Brasil.

JD Vance's donor network

Rockbridge Network
US right-wing donors; founded by JD Vance and Chris Buskirk

→

Chris Applegate
Rockbridge adviser and Vance fundraiser

→

Rockbridge Brazil LLC
registered in Wyoming on May 12, 2026, with no owners disclosed

→

Flávio's campaign office
Pedro Sang, “Pedro from Rockbridge”, worked there (six campaign sources)

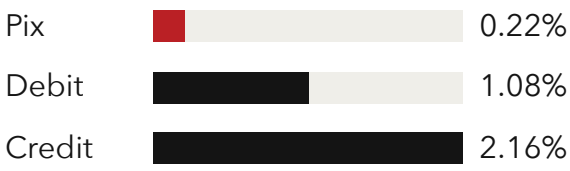

> Rockbridge says the Brazilian company never received money or operated.

Sources: official Brazilian and US documents, company registries, court records and reporting, cited in the notes of the report “The Foreign Network in Brazil's 2026 Election”. Page 1 is computed from the network map, documented ties only. October 2026.

What is at stake and who pays the bill

Payments

Cost to the merchant per sale

- Pix handled 54.7% of transactions in the second half of 2025; cards, 30.4%
- Revolving card credit charged 435.9% a year in February 2026
- 82% of families in debt; up to 3 minimum wages, 38.8% behind on payments (14.9% above 10)

Minerals

- $750m from the Pentagon and $565m from the US development finance agency in the Serra Verde mine
- The US imports 67% of the rare earths it uses, 71% of them from China
- 67% of the niobium the US imports comes from Brazil
- Law 15,506 (Sep 16, 2026) created a council that approves or vetoes foreign deals in the sector
- In Minaçu, royalties were about 5% of the budget and did not reduce poverty; in Bahia, the Pataxó say they were not consulted

Agribusiness and industry

Destination of farm exports, 2025

- China bought 79% of Brazil's soybeans in 2025
- The July 2026 tariff spared beef and coffee and hit sugar and ethanol
- Zero-tariff ethanol threatens about 280,000 jobs in the North and Northeast
- Each R$ 1bn exported to Mercosur sustains 24,400 jobs; to China, 15,700

Who pays the bill

The small shopkeeper pays on average 1.08% on debit and 2.16% on credit; with Pix, 0.22%

The family in revolving debt
435.9% interest a year; 38.8% of families on up to 3 minimum wages are behind

The factory worker
each R$ 1bn exported to Mercosur sustains 24,400 jobs

The sugarcane cutter about 280,000 jobs in the North and Northeast facing zero-tariff ethanol

Minaçu and the Pataxó royalties of about 5% of the budget; people who say they were not consulted

Questions that remain open

1. Who wrote the document Flávio submitted to the US government?
2. Who owns Rockbridge Brazil LLC, registered in Wyoming on May 12, 2026?
3. Who will receive the State Department's $1 million for Brazil?
4. Who paid for the foreign posts that presented betting odds as polls?
5. Did the Texas fund pay for Eduardo's stay in the United States?

Sources: official Brazilian and US documents, company registries, court records and reporting, cited in the notes of the report “The Foreign Network in Brazil's 2026 Election”. Page 1 is computed from the network map, documented ties only. October 2026.